life, provision has been made for community playgrounds and parks, social halls, club and meeting rooms, swimming pool, tennis and basketball courts, baseball diamonds, and moving-picture theatres (there are three).

There are 17 churches of various denominations, and fraternal, civic and service clubs numbering 56.

Education is provided through a senior high school and seven elementary schools, three parochial schools and one private academy. Mountain View is within five miles of Stanford University, nine miles of Santa Clara University, and 13 miles of San Jose State College.

Modern police and fire stations were completed in 1952, and provide efficient protection.

Manufacture and research are playing a greater part in the growth of the city, which now has aeronautical experimental research, printing of textbooks and religious literature, seed-processing, designing and engineering, manufacture of building materials, catsup and pickle processing, fruit and vegetable canning and quick-freezing, and cement and fertilizer manufacturing.

The Mountain View Chamber of Commerce, located in the beautiful City Park, will gladly furnish additional information.

SUNNYVALE

"CITY OF DESTINY"

A balanced community, Sunnyvale is surrounded by some of the finest fruit orchards and vegetable-producing areas in the nation. Santa Clara Countys' fastest-growing industrial community was founded in 1898. In 1912 the city was incorporated, and was chartered in 1949. Sunnyvale now has a city population of well over 13,000 (9,829 by the 1950 U. S. Census), and a metropolitan population of well over 16,000. Within its corporate limits, Sunnyvale covers 3,881 acres, and employs a land-use plant and zoning ordinance for that area. A council, city manager and planning commission govern the city. An excellent public library and park and recreation facilities are available. Crystal-clear water comes from municipally-owned wells supplemented by

Aerial view of Sunnyvale, looking north, showing its relation to Moffett Field

Hetch Hetchy. The Sunnyvale city water rates are the lowest on the San Francisco Peninsula—11c per 100 cubic feet for uses of over 5,000 cubic feet per month. Maximum tax limit, $1 per $100 valuation for general purposes, and 35c per $100 for special purposes. Sunnyvale's annual rainfall is 13.28 inches; average daily temperature, 57.5 degrees; mean maximum, 69.2 degrees; mean minimum, 45.8 degrees; average humidity, 73; average of clear days a year, 233. Sunnyvale is in the heart of the 19th county in the U. S. in value of agricultural products. Industrial payrolls within the city exceed $21,000,000 annually. Seven great universities and colleges, beautiful beaches, and redwood forests are within an hour's drive. This is truly a balanced community.
